Reconciling History: A story of Canada / Wilson-Raybould

When it comes to telling the history of Canada, and in particular the history of the relationship between Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples, it has not been a common or shared enterprise. Reconciling History seeks to change that by sharing our country's collective story through voices seldom heard. This groundbreaking book, born out of the oral history re-tells history from their perspectives.

Drumming Our Way Home: Intergenerational learning, teaching and Indigenous ways of knowing / Martin

Drumming Our Way Home demonstrates how telling, retelling, and re-storying lived experiences not only passes on traditional ways but also opens up a world of culture-based learning. Guided by her drum, this author's autobiographical journey provides a powerful example of reconnection to culture through healing, affirmation, and intergenerational learning.

Winipêk: Visions of Canada from an Indigenous centre / Sinclair

Using the story of Winnipeg to illuminate the reality of Indigenous life all over what is called Canada, this book demands change and celebrates those fighting for it. It reminds us of what must be reconciled and holds accountable those who must do the work. It's a book that reminds us of the power that comes from loving a place, even as that place is violently taken away from you, and the magic of fighting your way back to it.
