International Journal of Indigenous Health was established to advance knowledge and understanding to improve Indigenous health. The Journal seeks to bring knowledge from diverse intellectual traditions together with a focus on culturally diverse Indigenous voices, methodologies and epistemology. The Journal is peer-reviewed, online, open-access and shares innovative health research across disciplines, Indigenous communities, and countries.

Databases

SJCG Library offers several databases which are accessible from your ZenWorks Application Portal. We offer consumer health, research, point of care and drug databases. Each database is searchable and where you will find references to published literature, including journal and newspaper articles, government and legal publications, patents, reports, and books. The Library also offers a literature search service to all staff. Request a literature search here

IMD Health is a digital platform designed for healthcare professionals to better engage, inform and educate patients about their conditions and treatment plans.
